“ Sandy was a great person for self-centered, opinionated people to be around because he was neither of these. His quiet demeanor and self-deprecating humor, especially regarding his hunting prowess, made him a pleasure to talk to. His compassion and his kindness make him so deserving of God's Heaven. It's not surprising to hear of his commitment to further God's work through the mission work. Our deepest sympathy to Diana and all his family.

“ My prayers and thoughts are with you and your family. May God hold you in his arms and help you through this and make it as easy as possible. I remember how nervous he was the day he married my cousin and what a nice man he was. Love Nancy Ward
