“ Susan and Pam, I am so very very sorry for your loss. Having just lost my brother David, I can truly say that I understand grief in a whole new way. It seems so hard to understand how one moment they are here and the next they are walking the streets of gold. It's even harder to embrace that they wouldn't come back even if they could. But it's what we've taught and had faith in our entire spiritual life and now it's time, before we are ready, to let them enjoy that wonderful place that is Heaven. I'm praying for you. God bless your sweet hearts. Lona Carol Webb

“ Dynamite was more than a fellow co-worker. He was a true friend, a mentor and the one that I could go to for advice that I could count on. He taught me so much about business the old fashion way by example. All he came in contact with in business respected him for the honesty and integrity that he possessed. He made hard work fun from border to border and beyond.
