“ Rebecca I can't believe you are really gone. I will always cherish our memories we have together from playing softball together, all of our high school memories, being college roommates and all the MTSU memories. I miss the random phone calls, snapchats, and messages on Facebook! I wish I could call your phone and you pick up. I know you are with your grandma and y'all are having the time of your life. I miss you red! Until we meet again watch over all your friends and family that miss you so much! I'm not looking forward to today when I see you for the last time! Prayers for the family and friends as today is the last day we get to see you until we meet again! Love you red and fly high our beautiful angel!

“ I have come to this page probably a hundred times over the last few days, trying to figure out what to say and. there is just nothing to say. I love you Rebbeca. It was so good working with you. It always made my day when you was on shift. I have went over the memories from the last night we worked, Halloween night, right before this happened, and it is such precious memories that ill always cherish. You are loved and deeply missed
