

Travis Glenn Scott

March 14, 1992 - April 8, 2023

Travis Glenn Scott passed away unexpectedly on Saturday, April 8, 2023 in Nashville, Tennessee. He was 31 years old. His family is deeply saddened by his death. Travis was born on March 14, 1992.

Travis is survived by his mother Dionne Thompson and step-father Andy Thompson, his father Bobby “Glenn” Scott; his grandmother Diane Fowler; his sister Bobbie Susanne Scott; his brothers Harlem Scott and Henley Scott; and a niece Olivia Willis.

Travis was preceded in death by his grandfather Sonny Fowler, and grandparents Bobby and Olivia Scott.

Travis was born in McKenzie, Tennessee. He grew up in the Cedar Grove community where you would find him riding his four-wheeler up and down Mt. Gilead Road. He attended Bargerton Elementary School, Clarksburg High School, and later graduated from Black Rock High School in Arkansas. He then went on to graduate from Tennessee College of Applied Technology with a diploma in Industrial Electricity. He attended Mt. Gilead Baptist Church and was baptized on March 17, 2002.

Travis loved his family. Whether you would hear him aggravating his mother, working on things with his father, taking selfies with his sister, playing outside with his brothers, or taking care of his grandparents... you knew by the smile on his face, that family meant everything to him. If you were to ask his cousins about him, they would say that they were more like siblings than just cousins. Travis will always be remembered as the guy who had the biggest heart and would do anything for anyone.

Funeral services are scheduled for 11 am, Friday, April 14, 2023, in the chapel of Reed's Chapel in Lexington. The family will receive friends on Thursday, April 13, 2023 starting at 4pm, and then on Friday, April 14 starting at 9am until services begin.
